Dedication

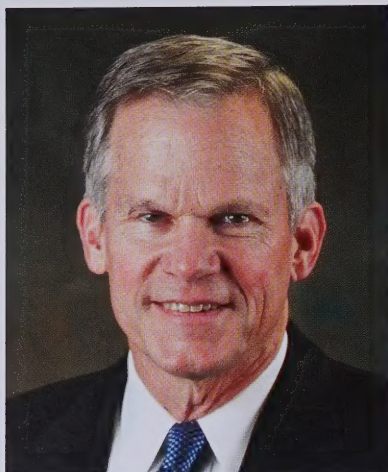

MARY LOIS JERNIGAN

On July 6th, 1966, Ms. Mary Lois began working at Campbell University in food services. She started off in the dish room. Since then, Mary Lois has worked in Marshbanks, The Oasis, Shouse, and catering at Campbell. She has been at Campbell through four different presidents, remembering Dr. Campbell, Dr. Wiggins, Dr. Wallace, and now Dr. Creed. She also remembers a lot changing in the food services, including Marshbanks Cafeteria. She remembers a time when there were three lines at Marshbanks, and everyone was allowed to get one meat, two vegetables, and one dessert. She recalls being in charge of giving a blessing before anyone began eating and that the dining hall would always be full at every meal. Most of all, she remembers the people she has met while working at Campbell. She remembers that after she had surgery, the men's basketball team wrote her a get-well card. She remembers all the students being well mannered and kind, and she has many come back to visit her after they leave Campbell. She gets to know a lot of students working five days a week at Marshbanks and remembers most that pass through, making connections with all the students. Mary Lois was given the title of honorary alumni on October 5, 2012, and had a banquet in her honor. She was very happy to receive this title and to be recognized for all her years of hard work. She plans on working at Campbell as long as her health allows and truly loves it here. "I love people. I really love it here."

For her dedication and service to Campbell and its students, the 2016 edition of the Pine Burr Yearbook is dedicated to Mary Lois Jernigan.

Dr. Jenna Carpenter

Engineering Dean

Did you know that 50-80% of job growth in America is contingent on engineers and scientists? Engineers are needed to meet this workforce demand, and that is exactly why Campbell hired Dr. Jenna Carpenter as the Dean of the up and coming School of Engineering, which will have its first graduating class in May 2020.

Dr. Carpenter is extremely qualified for this job based on her numerous years in the classroom, faculty positions, and role at the national level for engineering.

"Dr. C," as she is known by her students, is originally from Texas like our own Dr. Creed. Dr. Carpenter and her expertise were brought to Campbell because of the university's location in what she refers to as "the fastest-growing micropolitan area in the nation." Dr. Carpenter has spent the last 35 years in Louisiana, where she went to college and graduate school, and then worked for 26 years at the College of Engineering and Science at Louisiana Tech University as both an administrator and faculty member. She enjoyed every second of her time at Louisiana Tech, but knew she could not pass up the opportunity to kick-start an engineering school at Campbell.

Dr. Carpenter is honored to play a role in building the school because it allows her to craft something with everything she has learned through her national leadership roles and her experience in the engineering classroom. She recognizes the need for change in engineering education and is eager to implement that into the program she is creating. Under the care of Dr. Carpenter, Campbell Engineering will become a national model because of the signature program she is creating along with Campbell's staff, student body, collaborative environment, and perfect location in the Research Triangle Region. When talking to Dr. Carpenter, there is one thing she wants all students at Campbell to know: teaching is her favorite aspect of her career, and keeping up with former students is extremely fulfilling to her. She is always very proud of all that her students accomplish and cannot wait to see what the freshman class of August 2016 will do in their four years as Camel engineers.

Spring 2015

As soon as spring comes around, students begin to have a hard time focusing on their assignments. Whether it's because they will be graduating or because they are excited for summer break, remembering to finish out the school year strong is a must. With beautiful sunsets on campus and fabulous events, the spring is certainly a great time in The Creek.

Holi Festival

CELEBRATING CULTURE

"This is our first Holi Festival," Jackie Augusto, a junior clinical research major said. "It's a tradition in India that's been going on a long time and we like to do events that represent everyone at Campbell."

Holi Festival has an ancient origin that celebrates the triumph of good over bad. It is a traditional Indian festival that is held at the end of February or early March. The colorful festival bridges the social gap and renew sweet relationships.

Holi celebrations start with a Holika bonfire on the night before Holi where people gather, sing and dance. The next morning is a free-for-all carnival of colors, where participants play, chase and color each other with dry powder and colored water, with some carrying water guns and colored water-filled balloons for their water fight. Anyone and everyone is fair game. The frolic and fight with colors occurs in the open streets, open parks, outside temples and buildings. Groups carry drums and musical instruments, go from place to place, sing and dance. People visit family, friends and foes to throw colors on each other, laugh and chit-chat, then share Holi delicacies, food and drinks. Holi also gives a wonderful chance to send blessings and love to dear ones wrapped in a special Holi gifts.

The Campus Activities Board brought the Holi Festival to Campbell in order to help represent everyone who is at Campbell and different traditions from around the world.

"It's like a color run without the running," said Michelle Callow, a senior biology major.

Spring Fling

THE AMERICAN WAY

Spring is one of the best times of the year – the weather begins to turn warm, the trees on campus begin to bud, and students begin eagerly looking forward to the quickly-approaching summer. A break from the cold and dreary winter months often fills campus with excitement, and as students try to make the most of their last few months on campus, Spring Fling helps facilitate the fun!

Campbell kicked off the American-themed Spring Fling week in the football field, where students armed themselves with giant inflatable spheres and went head-to-head in a game of Bubble Ball. Whether they scored a goal, knocked their friends over, rolled around the field, or got stuck upside-down in their “bubble,” this new and exciting event was a hit with the students who participated.

Students also had the chance to show off their patriotic spirit at Tie-Dye Night, where colorful blue and red dyes abounded as students decorated t-shirts in the Rumley Center. The room was filled with laughter as dye more often than not found its way to students’ hands and faces rather than their shirts, and many enthusiastically left Rumley as they rushed to wash and wear their creations.

These two events built the excitement up for the State Fair Festival in Saylor Park. Students from all across campus gathered in the beautiful spring weather to participate in outdoor games, enjoy a pig pickin’ with friends, and relax for the evening around a bonfire held in the field. Students Summer Hardison and Morgan Davis said it best when they exclaimed that, “Spring Fling is the best week at Campbell!”

Spring Formal

THE PERFECT END TO A PERFECT WEEK

Capping off a great American themed spring fling was the Spring Formal on Saturday, March 21. Students dressed their best and headed to The Grand Marquise in Garner. The ambiance was beautiful and the décor from chandeliers to grand centerpieces set the tone for a breath taking night. It started out as any dance would, with people munching on food and anxiously awaiting more friends to arrive. When they did, the music cranked up and great party classics such as the Cha-Cha Slide, Electric Slide, and Cupid Shuffle brought people out to the dance floor. Once they were there, they couldn't go back to sitting. Every song the DJ played was one that they could dance to. Whether students came just for the food or to have a good time with friends, they all ended up on the dance floor together in the spirit of the week of Spring Fling. Bringing students together to have a good time is what these events are all about. Campbell pride was all over the room and students made new friends while still having a blast with old friends.

Above and Left: The best way to get students to the dance floor is through a line dance. There is no excuse for standing on the sidelines when the song has specific dance steps. These kinds of songs help to break the ice and keep everyone moving throughout the night.

"The Spring Formal was one of my most memorable experiences at Campbell so far. It was just a fun night with friends in a relaxed setting. I liked how it was in Garner, my hometown. It was nice to escape the stress of tests and deadlines. I plan on going to formals in the future."

Relay for Life

BEATING CANCER, HOLLYWOOD STYLE

This event took place in Academic Circle, from 3pm to 9pm, on Monday, March 30, 2015 – though the original plan was set to the Friday before that, and then postponed due to the rain. Concerning this change in plans, Campbell student Matthew Janus said, “Even on a Monday, a small victory was made...Cancer wasn’t going to be stopped by the rain, and neither was Campbell.” He continued, “It rained on Friday, but on Monday, the sun shined bright over a clear sky, giving a new hope for life.” He also predicted that the turnout would’ve been higher if it was kept on Friday, since it was a weekend-night, rather than a school-night like Monday.

The majority of the things that were sold were candy, cupcakes, cookies, and many other edible and non-edible items. Concerning these commodities, Matthew Janus also said, “If the cost of college didn’t break my wallet, buying unneeded goodies to support cancer research sure did.” Campbell student Matthew Sokol was in the one of the booths, and he said, “The Relay for Life event was a very humbling experience, and I helped out with the Communications Studies Club. This event means a lot to me because my mother is a cancer survivor, and I liked helping out for the cause.”

The booths stayed open until around 9 pm, at which time everything was put away and the lights turned off. Someone announced a walk of silence, and everyone gathered around Academic Circle to walk for a couple of minutes in complete silence and darkness—honoring the victims of cancer. After this, everyone packed up and left, but they had the memories that of this Relay for Life that made them excited to participate again.

“As the night took hold, there was—for a time—a glimmer of light shining from Campbell University. It was a glimmer of hope. It was a glimmer of life rising from the earth to the heavens.” -Matthew Janus

With the theme of Relay for Life being Red Carpet, clubs picked different movies such as The Sandlot, The Wizard of OZ, Peter Pan and Monument Men as the theme of their booths.

"Relay for Life is a great opportunity for all of the students and organizations to come together and create fellowship, while raising money for a great cause. Campbell University is big on raising awareness for important causes, such as cancer and building community between the students and the survivors. Relay for Life does just that. I encourage everyone to come out next spring and be involved in this great occasion."

Spring Concert

COUNTRY MUSIC COMES TO THE CREEK

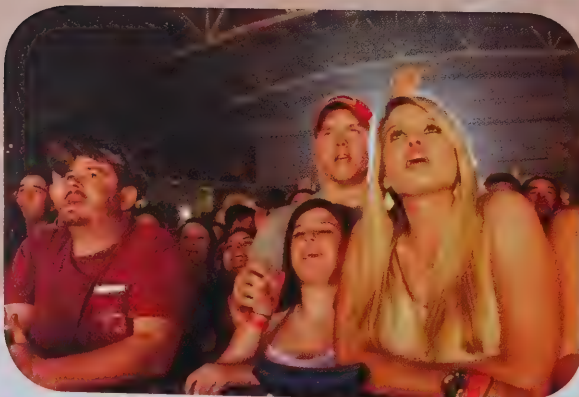

Monday through Friday we may be busting our backs at school, but not on Wednesday, April 8th because that was the day The Cadillac Three, Chase Bryant, and Lee Brice came to perform for Campbell students. Cowboy boots were seen campus wide that day, especially in the convocation center that evening as students gathered to belt out hit songs by these country artists.

On April 18th 2015, Campbell university hosted its annual spring concert series. Students lined up for a couple hours before the concert started. They all were anxiously awaiting to see Lee Brice perform live on stage. Lee Brice toured with Chase Bryant and The Cadillac Three. "Lee Brice was one of the best concerts that I have ever been to at Campbell," said Anna Rains, who was a sophomore at the time. "I loved how he included the crowd into his songs. Basically every song spoke to the crowd," she said. The crowd included more than just students as professors brought their families, and the surrounding community arrived to watch the show as well. It did not matter if one was a die hard country music fan or someone who has never heard of Lee Brice, everyone enjoyed the show. "It was so much fun, the people were friendly and the bands were great. I loved the atmosphere," said Devonna Hoskins, who is not a junior. "I can't wait for the next concert Campbell will have," Devonna exclaimed.

Graduation

CLASS OF 2015

After most undergraduates left campus after a busy spring semester, nearly 1000 undergraduate and graduate students remained, ready to be sent off to the next step in their lives. As they went around campus, reminiscing about the memories they had made and thinking about the exciting future ahead of them, Campbell was preparing for their grand send-off.

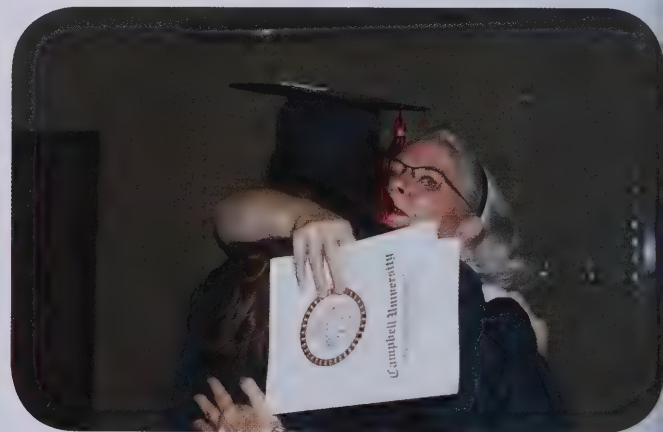

All students came from different places to meet at Campbell and find out what it had to offer. For some, this was a few changes of majors to find the perfect fit. For others, this meant completing their course of study they had been working towards for four years. After all of the hard work put into their college career, these students were ready to move on and find out what was next for them. Graduate school or a career awaited them after a ceremony held on campus for all who were leaving.

The ceremony had a special speaker who was also leaving Campbell: President Jerry Wallace. President Wallace reminisced on his time at Campbell as well as getting to watch all the students grow in their time at Campbell and move onto their next chapter ready for anything. After the ceremony, graduates received their diplomas, met their loved ones and said goodbye to their favorite professors as well as friends they would no longer go to classes with. The graduates, along with President Wallace, said goodbye to Campbell, and hello to their bright futures ahead of them.

New President

DR. CREED ARRIVES

President Creed is the 5th president of Campbell University and he arrived over the summer to Buies Creek eager to start his presidency. When he first arrived, he was greeted by the administration and given an official tour of the campus. He then moved into his office, followed by a lovely lunch at Marshbanks. Later in the summer, he hosted an ice cream social with any student that could make it. Many students that attended were athletes who were already on campus preparing for the upcoming season. Dr. Creed has been very open to student opinions and has had many opportunities to hear student's wishes for Campbell. Following the ice cream social with students, he held one with the faculty and staff. We are looking forward to seeing all that Dr. Creed will do in the coming years at Campbell University.

Dr. Creed began creating a new advertisement for Campbell University at the beginning of the fall semester. The new president is an avid runner and the new commercial featured him running by the school and the lovely landscape of Buies Creek. Dr. Creed also showed his love for running when he joined in and participated in the annual Running of the Camels 5K. President Creed has already shown his commitment to being engaged in the Campbell Community and we know that he will continue to be involved for at least as long as he is president here

Kyle Berrier

INTERNSHIP

Over the summer, Kyle had an internship at Rutledge Law Office in Walnut Cove, North Carolina. Kyle has worked at this law office for the past three summers and this helped him to decide what he wanted his career to be. Kyle started being introduced into estate accounting, where he was able to work with the Clerk of Court to gather and distribute a person's assets after they die. He learned the process of meeting with family members, gathering information about their assets, and finally, distributing the assets to the descendants of the deceased. Also during this internship, Kyle learned about life insurance and ownership of stocks. Overall, this internship was a great way for him to learn about a career path and figure out what he wants to pursue as a career.

This summer I spent in Orlando, FL with 100 or so other college students from the Raleigh-Durham area learning about God while being on mission at work. I worked at SeaWorld, trying to learn how to share my faith in a work context, as well as partnered alongside a local church for reaching the city. I had such an awesome experience learning from other students and helping to bring the Gospel to hundreds of unreached. Working at a theme park that sees guests from over 50 countries a day taught me the value of communicating cross-culturally, but I got to be in my own backyard!

MISSION TRIP

Study Abroad

THE WORLD IS YOUR CLASSROOM

I spent 2 months abroad, traveling and learning German at a language school in Düsseldorf, Germany. It was the experience of a lifetime. I never thought I would learn as much as I did. Spending two months in Düsseldorf allowed me to be immersed in the language and culture. I found out a lot about German efficiency and hospitality from everyone I met. I am so thankful for the opportunities that the language school afford because it allowed me to meet and interact with people from all over the world. It didn't matter that we were from different cultures or different religions. We all got to know each other because we all struggled together to learn German, a surprisingly difficult language. During my time in Europe, I also got to travel to England, the Netherlands, Belgium, and the Czech Republic. I have taken a 9-hour bus ride across Germany. I have seen the Cathedral in Cologne. I have walked across several major cities of Europe: Berlin, Amsterdam, London, and Prague. I have had the pleasure of experiencing "Turkish Pizza" (It's delicious by the way,) as well as traditional Yugoslavian cuisine. When you study abroad, so many things happen that you don't expect but that change you for the better without you even knowing it. If you get the opportunity, take it. -Hannah Jester

Over the summer of 2015, Hannah Jester and I got the opportunity to learn German at a language school in Dusseldorf Germany for two months. The awesome part of Europe is the countries are so close together you can do a lot of traveling easily. We visited Amsterdam, Belgium, England, and Prague while abroad. It was an incredible experience where we learned so much about ourselves, the world, and of course German. I would recommend studying abroad for any length of time to anyone. It is an amazing experience that should not be missed. Germany is an amazing country and I hope that everyone would have a chance to travel or study somewhere else in the world and get that experience of learning about a culture. Say YES to every experience. -Alexandra Clyde

She went on a faculty led trip to England and Scotland to study British Literature.

Spring Sports 2015

Softball finished out their season 28-27 with four players being named to NCCSIA softball teams. Three seniors, Julia Callicutt, Ericka Nesbitt and Stephanie Jones were named to the all-state first team while sophomore Katie Baker was named second team.

Baseball

BIG SOUTH CHAMPS

Campbell baseball finished the 2015 season with a 32-25 record under new head coach Justin Haire who also led the team to a 12-12 record in conference. The team came roaring out of the gates at one point holding an 18-2 record with big wins over Virginia Tech and Eastern Carolina University. To start off the month of March, the Camels welcomed William and Mary, a more than worthy opponent, of which they swept with a big offensive day, which included a ten run, and eight run performance. The baseball team continued to sweep through the month of March until they encountered the College of Charleston, a regular attendee in the college baseball postseason. During the course of the season however, the Camels would lose energy as they struggled to produce both on the mound and offensively, which consisted of an 8-9 stretch of which put them in the middle of the pack for conference play.

The Camels rallied behind a core group of players of which held the year together. The first being Heath Bowers, a four-year veteran and team captain, who once again put together another successful campaign as the ace of the pitching staff going 8-5 on the year with a 3.19 era. Another team captain was catcher Steven Leonard who hit .328 on the season while leading the team in stolen bases, and handling the pitching staff exceptionally.

The key to victory for the Camels was the offense, which they found out early on and continued to be nationally recognized throughout the course of the season hitting .300 as a team. Through a nice year-to-year transition, the batting order was stitched together with returners as well as new talent that led to the diverse attack. The Campbell leadoff hitter Cedric Mullins led the team in extra base hits and contributed many stolen bases as well. Seth Larue and Kyle Leady were also two key contributors for the Camels holding down the three and four hole in the lineup for the majority of the season hitting .327 and .336.

Right: Steven Leonard finishes off a Strikeout with a throw down to first base to cap off a Camel win, and would go on to become a draft pick of the Colorado Rockies.

Far Right: Matt Parrish is congratulated on his home run at North Carolina State University by Austin Beard. Matt Parrish would go on to earn Academic All American honors.

Above: Cedric Mullins looks to get extra bases on a hard hit ball in the right center gap. Mullins had a breakout year leading the Camels in extra base hits and top five on the team in average, slugging, and stolen bases. Cedric would go on to be a 13th round draft pick by the Baltimore Orioles.

Left- Heath Bowers pitches against Bowling Green to lead the Camels to a 4-2 win as well as tying the single game strikeout record for the Camels. Bowers would go on to be a twenty third round draft pick by the Oakland Athletics as well as pick up second team all conference honors on the mound.

Cole Hallum takes the mound in the ninth inning looking to pick up the save for Campbell. Hallum was a two way player for the Camels manning left field as well as the closer role, and would go on to be the Big South Player of the Year, leading the team in slugging, on base percentage, walks, RBI, and saves.

Softball

DIAMONDS ARE A GIRL'S BEST FRIEND

The Campbell softball team contributed another winning season in 2015 going 28-27 overall although falling a bit short in conference going 8-15. Although struggling a bit, the Camels defended their home turf with a winning record at home. The team got off to a good start going 10-5 to begin the season with a couple of big extra inning wins. Campbell continued to play about .500 ball through the rest of the season while gaining a couple of big wins in back-to-back days against Appalachian State. In the remaining games leading up to the conference tournament the Camels would finish strong while going 7-0. Going into the Big South Tournament, Campbell was rolling only to lose two hard fought games by a matter of only one run a piece.

The Strength of the Camels was definitely their pitching with their two main starting holding opposing teams to an era in the two's between them. Julia Callicutt led the team with a 2.44 era while going 14-9 on the season, and Katie Baker contributed a 13-14 record while only having a 2.88 era. The two Campbell workhorse's had an almost identical workload in pitching 172.1 and 172.2 innings which was almost 95 percent of the innings thrown by Campbell pitchers. Although their records weren't anything to boast about, their ERA's were without a doubt in giving up on 2-3 runs per game the Camels were always in a position to win when they took the field behind these two ladies.

The offense featured four year starter Erika Nesbitt who also played a fine shortstop for the Camels. Nesbitt gained second team all big south honors while leading the Big South in Hits (78), batting average (.441), and eighth in runs (44).

Men's Tennis

SERVING UP SUCCESS

The Campbell men's tennis team had a successful campaign during the 2014-2015 season tallying a record of fourteen and ten. The Camels were dominant at home as they tallied a 5-2 record and although the road games are always tough they still managed to come out in the positive with a 6-5 record on the road. The Camels finished up conference with a very respectable 6-3 record and put another good year down in the books before entering the conference tournament. The Camels at one point went on to win five consecutive matches to help boost their standings. The Fighting Camels fought their way through a tough regular season and weren't done yet when they entered the conference tournament. There they would advance through the preliminary rounds all the way to the championship game where, unfortunately they would come up a bit short to Winthrop.

The team was led by sophomore Nicolas Rakitan as he recorded a 19-14 record, and also led the team with a 12-6 as the teams number 1 player. In doubles he would finish out the season with a 14-7 record, while also earning 2015 conference flight honors at the No. 3 position with doubles partner Steven Billington. Rakitan's success was also matched by freshmen Lukas Schaefer who captured Big South Freshmen of the Year honors while owning a 18-11 record which put him second on the team in wins.

Women's Tennis

YOU JUST GOT SERVED

Campbell Women's Tennis put in a healthy effort last season as they finished out the season with a .500 record. The Camels did however battle their way to a winning record in conference finishing with a 5-4 record. The team showed a lot of heart at home as they powered their way to a 4-2 record at home, however not having home field advantage proved to be their kryptonite as they fell to a 6-8 record while away. The Camels got off to a rough start losing their first two matches of the year at the VCU 4-1 Invitational and struggling through February. The Fighting Camels would come roaring back in the month of March in an effort to get back in the mix of a conference race and winning 6 of their nine matches on the month. The team finished the season strong and showed a lot of heart in doing so, however their efforts would come up a bit short at the Conference tournament going 1-2 and getting eliminated by Liberty University.

The team was led by senior Tamara Stanic who has been a crucial member of the Camels for her time here. Stanic showed brilliant leadership this season in having a many underclassmen aboard the team.

Track & Field

MAY THE COURSE BE WITH YOU

Track and Field started off their indoor season with a bang by earning three victories at the UNC Open. The winners included freshman Sabina Allen, freshman Lawrence Kipkoech, and sophomore Davian Rhodes, all winning gold at the first open of the season. The season continued with four athletes breaking school records. These athletes were Juhasz breaking a school record for hurdles, then breaking that record again at the next open as well as Kipkoech and Timiney breaking school records as well.

At the outdoor season opener, Campbell Track earned five top-10 finishes on day one and ten top-20 finishes on day two. The Camels brought the competition home to earn six victories at the Campbell Invitational. At the end of the season, Campbell swept the men's 10,000 m podium at the Big South Track and Field Championship and got three All Conference Honors at the Big South Outdoor Track and Field Championships. Overall, the women finished third while the men finished fourth at the Big South Outdoor Track and Field Championship. To end the season on a high note, Lawrence Kipkoech was named 2015 Big South Male Runner of the Year. The team will keep on running until next season to win more big titles and honors!

Men's Golf

GRIP IT AND RIP IT

The Campbell men's golf team got off to good start to warm up the new year coming in the middle of the pack in their first two opportunities in South Carolina at Pawley's Island True Blue Foundation and Dafuskie Island. Although finishing 4th in the OBX Collegiate, the Camels received a great individual performance on the weekend from Gaston Bertinotti who shot eight under to begin the early week tournament, including a low score of 67 on Monday. The camels would however prove resilient as they battled throughout the year staying in the middle of the pack until they could leap into striking distance. Once the month of March rolled around, the Camels seized every opportunity as it arose. To begin the month the team finished 2nd in the Del Walker Intercollegiate, followed by a sixth place finish of 18 teams in the Mission Inn Spring Spectacular with a fourth place finish by Craig Hornberger. The Camels would finish the month on a strong note with perfect timing to roll into the conference tournament with a big win at the Seahawk invitational with a 3rd place finish from Gaston Bertinotti.

The team was led by Gaston Bertinotti who posted an average score of 72.67, also won the OBX Collegiate to help lead the Camels surge into the conference tournament. Bertinotti was elected to the All Big South Conference team as well as noting five top 20 finishes. Sophomore Chris Hornberger also contributed a crucial role for the Camels playing in two events and posting a low score of 66, a low for the Fighting Camels on the season.

Women's Golf

WE HAVE DRIVE

The Campbell women's golf team came roaring out of the gates this past season finishing in the top four of every round they played during the month of September. The Women's golf team has been a statute of excellence for many years now and they did not disappoint last season led by seniors Tahnja Ravnjak, and Mary-Katelyn Holanek. The seniors proved to know the stomping grounds and brought the young guns up to speed very quickly as to not drop the baton, which proves to be a tough task when you've been on top for that long, in being a regular attendee to the Regional playoffs. To begin the season in the Program Golfweek Challenge the Camels gave a fine team performance and ended up second on the weekend with all five players turning in scores that put them in the top twenty. The surge would continue as they took on the Fighting Camels Classic of which they would come out on top with a great team victory to defend their home turf. After another solid campaign the team would take second in the Big South Conference Tournament to gain a regional bid, and would eventually go on to the NCAA Championship to top off the season.

Tahnja Ravnjak led the team in her stroke average(74.80) and earned Big South All Conference Honors for her third straight year going into her senior year. She notched a fifth place finish, her best on the season, at the Fighting Camels Classic and proved be a measure of consistency for her team. Sophomore Louise Latorre had a breakout campaign while bringing in the second lowest average per round at 75.22 and firing a low score of 68 at Briar's Creek. Senior Lisbeth Brooks had the top finish for the Camels in coming in Second place in the Fighting Camels Classic.

Top: Lisbeth Brooks makes a stellar shot to get up and down for par. Shots like these are why people are not surprised to see why she was named a Big South Conference team member for the third consecutive year.

Right: Tahnja Ravnjak knows you drive for show but you putt for dough, and looks to capitalize down the stretch for her team. Ravnjak owned the second best stroke average in the Big South while noting five top ten finishes.

Lacrosse

LAX TO THE MAX

The Campbell Women's Lacrosse team turned in a rough season all though they do have some building blocks in place for the future. In being a new program it is always tough to put your school on the map. The girls are however playing in the Big South Conference, which is no easy competition. The team finished the season at 5-13 although doing a bit better on their home field at 4-6. Campbell got off to a rough start losing its first three games, however would battle back to win three of their next six. The Camels had a decent record at home however their struggles came on the road which is typically the case as road games are a tough task for any team. The fight in the team showed though as they never gave in and ripped off back to back wins against Presbyterian and Gardner-Webb. The team blew out both opponents by scores of 20-7 and 20-5 to help boost their record in conference. Campbell lost two tough, very close games to Coastal Carolina to end their season.

The team was led by Junior Loren Day who led the team in scoring but would unfortunately miss the final 7 games of the season due to injury. Right behind Loren was Erica Hitch who scored the third most goals for the Camels while controlling the game from the centerfield position. Hitch also led the team in assists with 18 while posting 11 multi-goal games including a season high of six vs. Presbyterian.

Sierra Fox looks to advance the ball up field to assist on a Camel Score.

Cammys

SEASON OF CELEBRATION

Celebrating student athletes has been a tradition at Campbell for many years. However, for four years, the Cammy's have given Campbell a time to showcase athletes and teams who go above and beyond on and off the field. Awards are given for the best team as well as the best team GPA, proving that Campbell's athletes work hard in everything they do.

This year, the award for Mr. Campbell was given to Soccer player Scooter Oliver while Miss Campbell was given to Basketball's Juli Osbourne. These awards are given to the players who embody Campbell's values and are also star athletes. The Unsung Hero award was given to Lacrosse's Rebecca Sheinfled while the Amanda Littlejohn award was given to Basketball's Trae Bremer.

Other awards included Team Performance of the Year, which was given to Baseball as well as Most Outstanding Team which went to Women's Golf. The Team GPA went to Women's Tennis with a score of 3.605, and Breakthrough Athlete of the Year went to Women's Basketball's Summer Leverette. The Outstanding Male Athlete Award went to Baseball's Heath Bowers, and the Outstanding Female Athlete Award went to Golf's Tahnia Ravnjak.

The event had speakers and food as well as many awards celebrating everything that Campbell athletes do. The Cammy's prove that Campbell's athletes are amazing in their sports as well as in everything they do.

Student Life

There are so many things to do from clubs to intramurals, there is so much to do. Pictured is the Zumbathon held during SAAW- Sexual Assault Awareness Week. The Zumbathon was held for two hours and by the end of it, there was not a non-sweaty person in sight. This event was a great way to workout and raise awareness and money for a great cause.

Ministry House

The Campus Ministry house is a welcoming place for all of the students and staff here at Campbell University. Students enjoy coming together, to share a meal or play a few games. The house is even used for service projects both large and small. Friends are made through the breaking of bread in this house and by offering their time to others. The house is open for students to come in and relax in a safe environment. With that being said, the Campus Ministry house continues to be a great presence that benefits both the school and community around it.

RAs and RDs put on programs for their residents in the dorms and apartments. Anna Marie Vagnozzi put on a balloon popping program for her residents in Strickland Hall. This was a stress relief program as well as a good way to have fun. Things that made people stressed out were written on balloons and the balloons were filled with paint. Then students could then throw darts at the balloons and pop them with paint flying everywhere.

The Hammond Family: An RA Legacy

Siblings Erica, Nick, Veronica, and Monica Hammond have all been RAs during their time at Campbell. Erica started out the tradition because she loved how nice her RAs were when she was a freshman and she wanted to provide the kind support they gave her. Nick was next, but he was only an RA for a semester due to his plans to study abroad in Spain for a year. Veronica is in her second year of being an RA in Burkot, while this is Monica's first year. Monica is the youngest, but she said she never felt pressured to be an RA, she wanted to because of how great her siblings made it sound. Since Veronica and Monica are both RAs at the same time, they have combined events with both of their dorms, such as when they planned a slip-n-slide kickball event.

The winning team of CAB's Scavenger Hunt celebrates at the beginning of the fall semester. The event brought out a lot of students to have fun once classes have started.

Welcome Week

FUN TIMES IN THE CREEK

Welcome Week is always a great time here at Campbell University. It is still warm outside, classes haven't gotten difficult and filled with projects, papers, and tests. During Welcome Week the freshmen feel a new emotion they haven't felt before: the freedom of college. The upperclassmen have seen it before and are glad to be back. Some of these freshmen don't know anyone on campus and they can be whomever they want. Whether it is the wannabe jokester who gets onstage with the comedians who come to Campbell or the freshman who wants the girl they just met to think they could hold their own in mud volleyball. The upperclassmen look on thinking about their time in their freshman Welcome Week and all the fun things they did. They realize that the freshmen have a lot of learning to do. This is what college is about: learning, not just in the classroom, but learning about themselves as people too. When the freshmen eventually become upperclassmen, they will enjoy Welcome Week and look at the freshmen, and think about their freshman year here at the Creek and their very first week and realize how much it meant to them. This is a tradition at Campbell that will continue to help new students become part of the Campbell community and help upperclassmen enjoy the start to every new school year.

Right: The inflatable water slides have been a big hit at the Party at the Park over the past couple of years. Such a great way to cool off and relax after a couple days of school.

Rar Right: Sitting backward on this bench gave these girls a great view of the Mud Volleyball game without having to sit in the dirt.

Right: This year was the first year that there were inflatable pools filled with water to swim in or just chill with your friends. This was one of the smaller pools, but for some reason, this group of guys decided to all get in this particular one. Students have fun relaxing in the pools while they prepped to go defeat a team at Mud Volleyball.

Right: Before classes even started, Turner Auditorium was filled with students who were partying to That Drummer, That DJ.

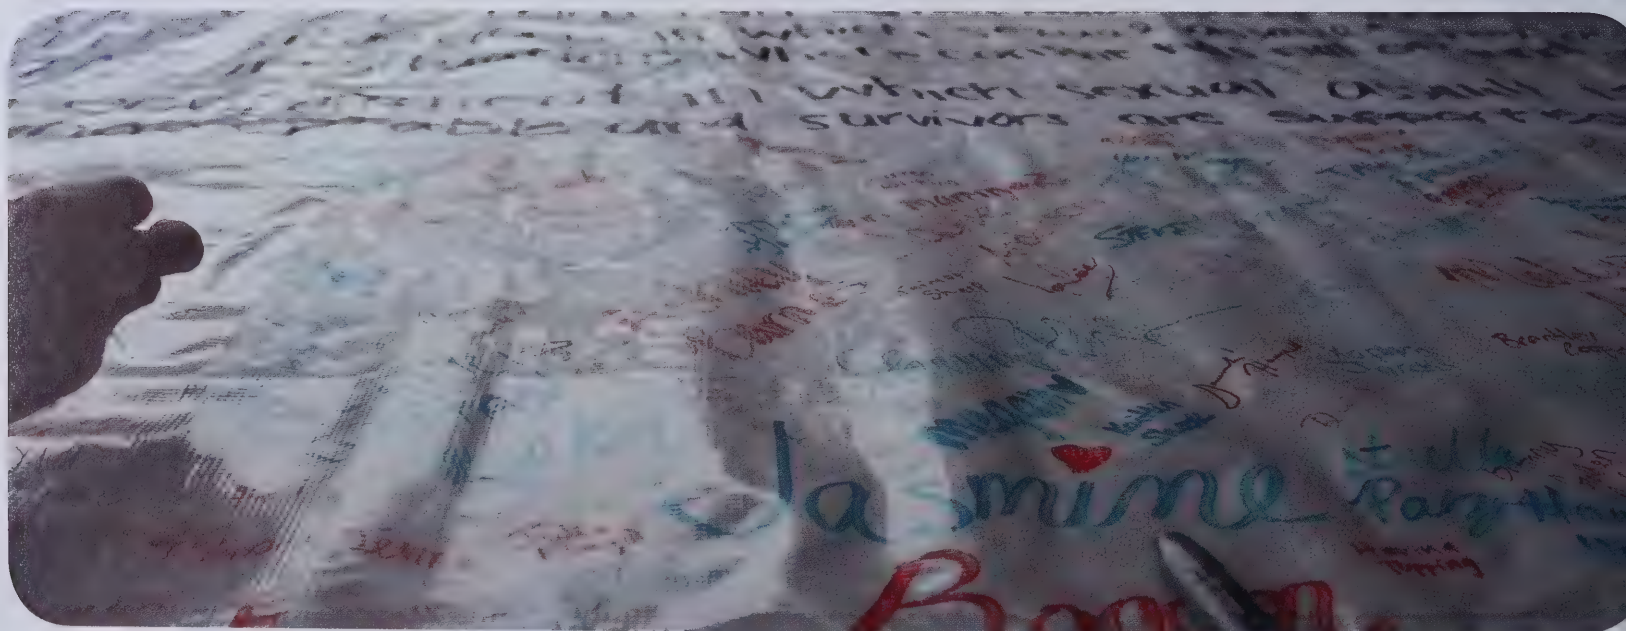

Left: Playing Mud Volleyball is the highlight of Welcome Week for many people. For some it is just watching their friends fall in the mud. There is nothing like a warm summer day in The Creek to get the school year going off to a great start.

Below: Mission Improvable came to Campbell after classes had already begun, so students really needed a laugh and a break. The students on stage were trying to guess what the Improvers were acting out.

SEXUAL ASSULT AWARENESS WEEK

On the last day, a big tent with balloons was set out in Academic Circle. Under this tent was the banner to sign the pledge against sexual assault. Many people stopped by that day despite the rain to sign the banner and promised to always consent to what they were doing. The events of the week helped Campbell students to learn more about sexual assault awareness.

Right: Zumba is as simple as following the steps and the movements. It doesn't matter if you are doing it perfectly, it just matters that you are out there doing it.

Family of the Year

A PACK OF CAMELS

For 2016, the Hewitts were named Family of the Year. The family describes themselves as “a pack of camels”, with both parents attending the university as well as all three of their children currently attending Campbell. It were these Campbell ties that gave the Hewitts the opportunity to become Family of the Year. The Hewitts middle child, Kathryn, nominated her family. The Hewitts were recognized as Family of the Year at halftime at a Campbell Football game. They are a great representation of how Campbell is truly a family and of Campbells great school pride and spirit.

President's Tour

INTRODUCING DR. CREED TO THE NATION

As Campbell welcomed a new president to the university, a series of events were held across the nation to give alumni and friends the opportunity to meet the new president. Dr. Creed held eleven "An Evening with Dr. Creed" events. Eight events were held in North Carolina, two in Virginia, and one in California. The response to these events was overwhelming, with many events being sold out. People who attended the events were able to learn more about Dr. Creed and learn about the progress and priorities of one of North Carolina's preeminent private universities. The tour events featured an exclusive video about Campbell, short speeches from Campbell students, alumni and Dr. Creed, as well as a Q&A session with the president.

Homecoming

THE CREEK WAS ON ISLAND TIME

Homecoming Week was very eventful, the events held that week included Tag Day, bonfire, parade, powder puff, Homecoming parade, and Homecoming football game.

The week started off with the Powder-Puff game, followed by the Homecoming Dance on Wednesday. Thursday was the most eventful day, which involved Tag Day. You could find tags all over the campus with information of who helped donate money to construct buildings. The huge tag was on display over D.Rich.

Also at this event students could get a t-shirt by posting on social media a picture with a tag. At the end of Thursday there was a Bonfire that also gave you the option of getting a free t-shirt. It was a great night to roast marshmallows and dance with your friends. This year's movie night played Ant Man. The Homecoming parade and harvest court started off eventful Saturday. The day was nice and clear for all events. The Homecoming game was great. Our football team played a great game. The highlight of the week was having Dr. Creed kiss a camel.

Above: One thing that drew people out to the bonfire was the s'mores. It is always a good time to make s'mores with friends over a giant bonfire.

Halloween

WOULD YOU LIKE TO BE SCARED?

Halloween is always an exciting time here at Campbell because so many events are put on from many different groups across campus. The Business School puts on a Trunk or Treat for kids in the community where students dress up and make their car into a theme and pass out candy to the kids. Getting a little spookier, was the Ghost Walk put on by Campbell. Although it was rained out one of the nights, it went well the other night it was performed. This Ghost Walk tells the scary haunted stories of the building and places across campus where we go everyday. Two scary events were put on to raise money. Phi Delta Theta had a Haunted House at their Fraternity House. Their theme was Anarchy, similar to the movie The Purge and a percentage of their proceeds went to ALS. CKI had a Haunted Trail on the nature trail. They had many people jump out from behind trees and even one night had someone with a chainsaw chasing people. CKI treasurer Irene Storm said "This was my second year volunteering on the Haunted Trail, and it's definitely the best way to spend Halloween. I think the volunteers have even more fun than the visitors! We get to terrorize people all night, and then at the end we chill out with hot chocolate and tell stories about the people who were so scared that they lost their flashlights or left their friends in the dust. And knowing all the money goes to save lives makes it even sweeter."

Right: Students did run away from the clowns at the CKI Haunted Trail. I think it is safe to say that many people are afraid of clowns especially when they are in the dark woods.

Library

KNOWLEDGE CAN TAKE YOU FAR

Of course we all think librarians are smart. They help us with our research and books surround them everyday. However, we didn't know how smart until one of our librarians, Steve Bahnman, appeared on the show 500 Questions. When watching the show, it was evident that Bahnman knew so much more than most Campbell students know. As with most trivia game shows, you must come up with the answer quite quickly. It was amazing how most of the time Bahnman could instantly answer the question while I as the viewer was baffled by what the question even meant.

Bahnman said he was able to practice the real 500 Questions before he had to be on TV to play for himself. He was always interested in books with facts in them from a young age and in college he joined the Quiz Bowl Team. He still loves knowing facts, words and knowledge in general which is great for his job as a librarian.

The game 500 Questions is to see if you can answer 500 questions and the player can't get three in a row wrong or they are out. Bahnman got to question 168 and reached his third strike. However, he impressed us all at Campbell. At this time, he has gone further than any other player.

Creek Books

In the fall of 2015, the library started a book club called Creek Books. It was open to people in the community as well as students. At the beginning of the school year, people could vote on which book they would rather read. With Harper Lee's Go Set a Watchman having just been released, the book was on the list. Since Harper Lee's To Kill a Mockingbird is often a book students read in middle and high school, Go Set a Watchman was the one most people voted on. The librarians know that students have busy schedules so they only set two meetings and you could read at your own pace with no assigned readings.

I had always wanted to be a part of a book club ever since I was little and completely obsessed with books, so I thought I would give this a try. I got the book to read before the meeting. I read half the book in just one night. I had forgotten how great it was to read a good book that wasn't a textbook or for a class. Although I never made it to the meetings, I was really happy to be reminded that reading is good, you just have to find the right book and right author, and I highly recommend Go Set a Watchman by Harper Lee.

Anne of Green Gables

THE FALL MUSICAL

Every fall the theatre department puts on a wonderful musical and this year was no exception with Anne of Green Gables. This classic story came to life at Campbell at the end of October. The play shows how Anne, played by Madison Grizzard, goes to live and grows up with Matthew and Marilla, played by Logan Sexton and Lori Minor. When Anne first moves to Avonlea, she always speaks her mind and does what she wants which makes some of the townspeople not like her. However, she has a best friend named Diana, played by Emma Leatherwood who helps her feel at home. When Diana gets drunk after accidentally drinking alcohol at Anne's house, Diana's mother, Mrs. Barry, played by Olivia Exum, forbids Diana from seeing Anne anymore.

Without having anyone to talk to in class, Anne continues to do very well in school and her nemesis is Gilbert, played by Mateo Pantoja. Gilbert likes Anne but Anne despises him. She thinks he teases her because of her hair and she tries dying it black, but instead it turns out green. This of course just gets more laughs from Gilbert and the townspeople, which is not what Anne wanted.

Anne does get to be friends with Diana again after Anne saves Diana's baby sibling during an illness. There was a bad storm that night and Anne knew the doctor couldn't get there in time, so Anne took action and saved the baby. When Diana's mother realized what happened, she released the ban that forbid Diana from seeing Anne. As they grew up, Anne got into a school where she learned to be a teacher and Gilbert got in as well. They eventually became friends and in the end, there were hints that they would be dating soon.

Battle of the Bands

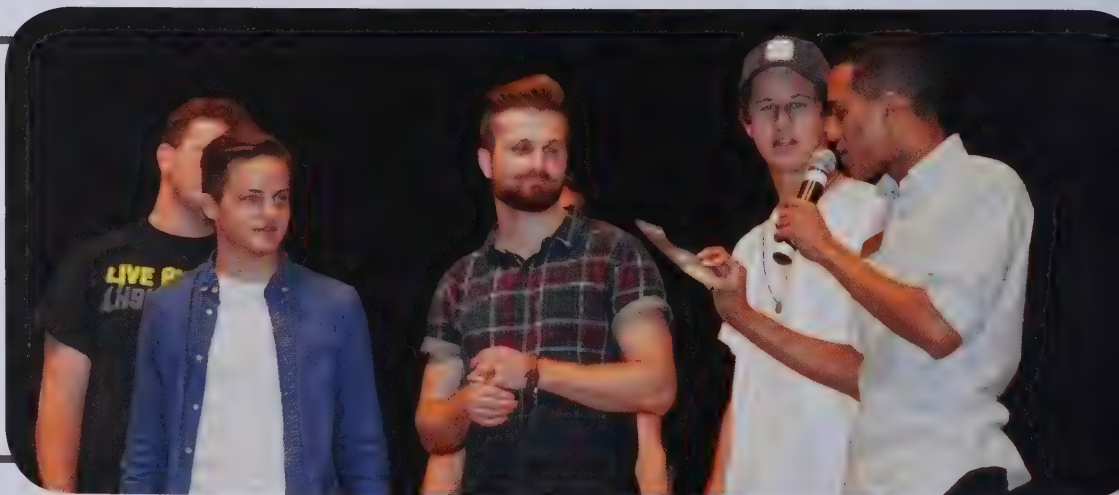

ROCKING THE CREEK

Battle of the bands had a bunch of electric performers. Six Band performed in the battle of the Bands. Each band kept the theme of classical rock songs. There were incredible performances, but the winners, Cody Hartley Band, played some gospel songs and had the crowd on their feet with their cover of Don't Stop Believing by Journey. The last band to perform was also had the crowd on their feet with their cover of Out of the Black by Royal Blood. The Cody Hartley Band was named the winner, with the crowding cheering for their victory. For winning, the band members all got tickets to the spring concert.

Quidditch

CAMPBELL BECOMES HOGWARTS FOR A DAY

Bludger, quaffle, and the amazing golden snitch were seen on campus for the Quidditch match that took place in Saylor Park. Harry Potter nerds and people who wanted to burn some energy both came out to this fun event. Students had fun attempting to score points and others had fun defending the hoops. Whether they cheer for Gryffindor or Slytherin the students had a good time if they were watching the game. Most people who were watching did take a turn in playing. It was a lovely day for a Quidditch game. The only thing bad about it was that their brooms didn't actually fly.

Moe's Opening

NEW FOOD ON CAMPUS

On November 5th, Campbell opened a brand new dining option on campus. Replacing what used to be Quiznos, Moe's Southwest Grill was opened on campus. Students lined the street anticipating the ribbon cutting. Everyone wanted to be the first to get the brand new food. Moe's gave away coupons to students waiting in line for a free burrito or a free t-shirt.

Sue-Ann Forrest spoke about the opening and how great an opportunity it was for Campbell students and staff to have a new dining option. The Vice President for Business, Jim Roberts, had the honor of cutting the ribbon to officially open the doors to Moe's. Students poured into the new dining option and got to try all the new food. Everyone was excited to have a new option on campus and on the Campbell meal-plan.

Tunnel

CONSTRUCTION ON 421

When 421 was shut down beside Campbell, it created quite a bit more traffic through Buies Creek. Cars didn't stop for pedestrians anymore, which was something students had to get used to as they went off to exams at the beginning of December. Luckily, for most of the time 421 was closed, students were home for the holiday and we all can't wait to be able to use the tunnel.

Food Nights

BONDING OVER A LOVE OF FOOD

At Campbell, food brings everyone out of their dorm rooms and together to celebrate. This was proven twice as CAB hosted both a Bacon Night and a Nacho Night. Bacon Night, which has become a tradition here at Campbell, brought out many people to eat as much of the fatty, fried meat as can be. Some students even dressed up as their favorite food in order to celebrate the great event. Nacho night brought out students who wanted to make their own creations with nachos and tons of toppings.

Both events brought out a great crowd and had lines for students outside waiting patiently and anxiously to get their food. At both events, there was no food left to spare and students walked away with happy faces and their stomachs full of great food. Students can't wait for the food night tradition to continue and for their chance to get food-inspired t-shirts and to get their hands on all the bacon and nachos they can handle.

Christmas Tree Lighting

When Christmas Begins

This year's annual Christmas tree lighting ceremony was another event put together by the own Campbell University Student Government Association. This year there were more students than ever at the ceremony. The event was a two-part event that started with a Christmas theme service in Butler Chapel, which included small stories from students, faculty. The campus worship band serenaded the crowd and so did the Campbell University gospel choir. Once the service was over the students and faculty rushed outside to get in line for the wonderful 2016 shirts, and SGA also provided hot chocolate, and doughnuts. The lighting service proceeded with Christmas music from another campus worship band and also words from our Miss Campbell 2016, Sue Ann Forrest, and our President, Dr. Creed. The service was full of joy, and laughter, and then a count down from students, faculty, and administrators.

The lighting of this years tree was one that the whole University looks forward to next year!

Winter Formal

THE NUTCRACKER

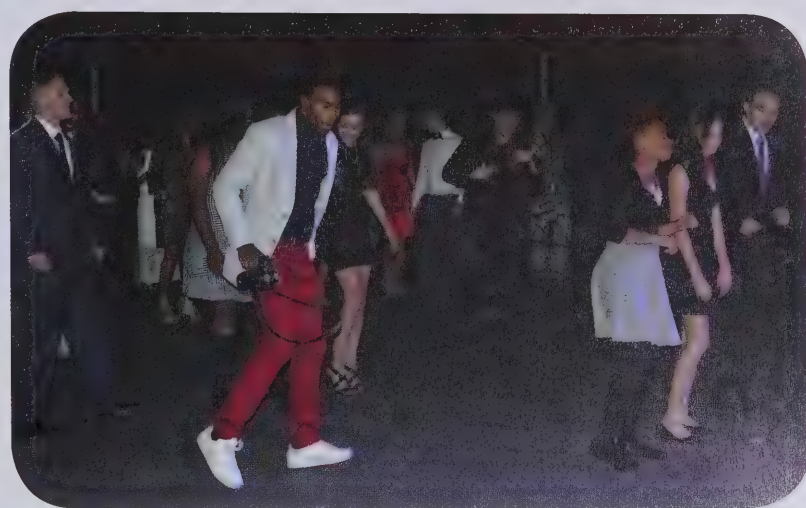

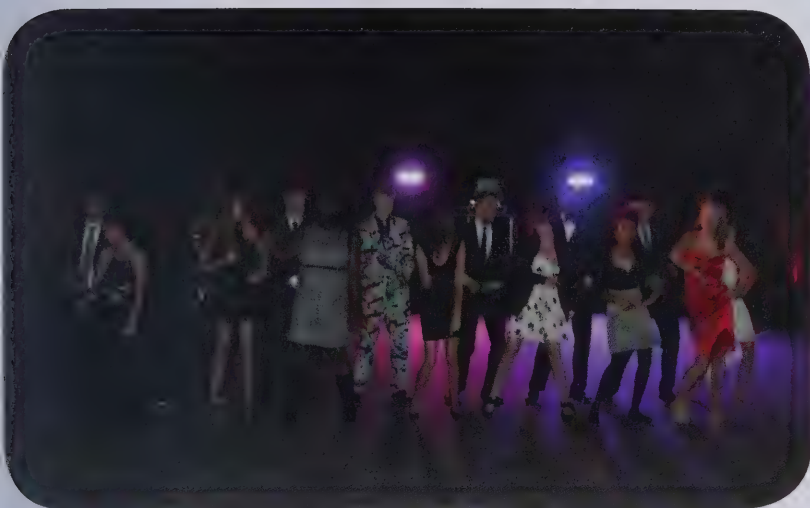

As I approached the Convocation Center in my red gown, I wondered where the entrance was for the winter formal. The location simply said "Convocation Center" so that was where I had gone. I decided to keep walking towards the back of the building and when I turned the corner, I panicked. "Where was I supposed to go in? Maybe this wasn't where it was after all." But then I saw it: a walkway lined with candles. When I got closer, there was a red carpet to walk on and I felt like it went perfectly with my red dress. I walked through the halls that were decked in red and green lights. I was soon close enough to where I could see the decor in the arena. There was an enormous panorama of a warm holiday scene. The scene had presents, Christmas puppies, candles, and windows with snow outside. There were wreaths and it was beautiful. This was only half of the amazing decor. There was also a Christmas tree, as large as the one in Academic Circle, filled with ornaments. In front of it was a bench, a couple gifts, and two nutcrackers. It was set up as a place to take pictures. The lighting was set just right on this scene so that a perfect Christmas card photo could be taken with friends at this wonderful winter formal.

The night was filled with dancing, eating, and socializing. Songs such as "Jump on It" and "Shake it Off" were played and many people danced. Others sat back and watched the dancing as they enjoyed their sandwiches and cupcakes. Photos were taken, memories were made, and new friends were made as well. Friendships grew stronger as good times were had by all. It was a great way to remind students of the upcoming holiday season and the fact that the fall semester would soon be over.

Fall Sports

Football

THROWING PASSES TO SUCCESS

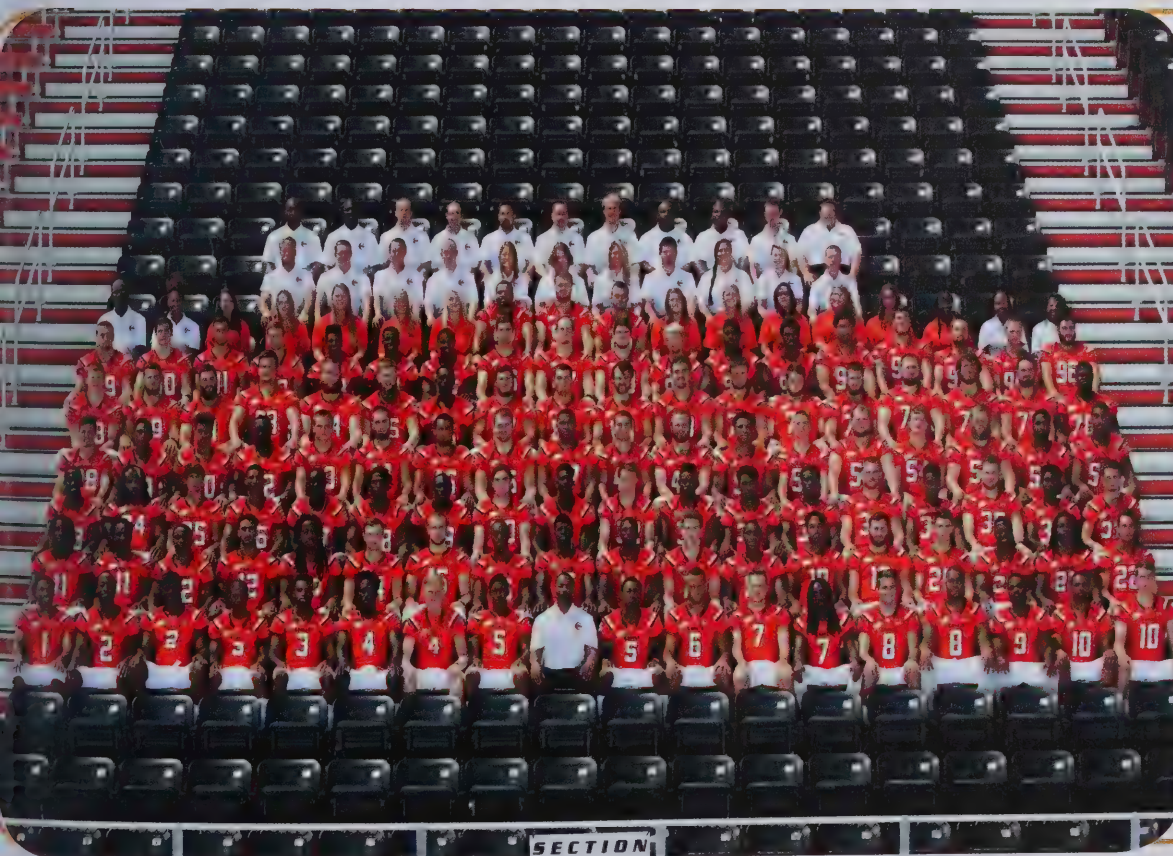

The Campbell Football team started their season off right with three home wins against Pikeville, Chowan and Drake. The Camels proved themselves against Chowan with a huge lead and a 35-3 win. Although the team ended their season with a 5-6 record, some players made records of their own. Junior DeShawn Jones made Campbell history by ending the season with his career running yards at 1079, with 201 yards in one game. He was then named to the College Football Performance Awards' FCS All-Purpose Performer of the Year Watch List. DeShawn wasn't alone in his honors as freshman Jack Ryan was named the PFL Freshman Defensive Player of the year, and junior Jared Ozimek was named to the College Football Performance Awards' 2015 FCS Punter Award Watch List.

At the end of the season, 16 Campbell Football players were honored on all-PFL squads. These included DeShawn Jones, Ugonna Awuruonye, and Greg Milhouse Jr. named to the first team, and Dalton Dillon, Brian Stryffeler, and Jake Barr to the second team. Ten camels received honorable mentions, including Chris Beaty, Aaron Blockmon, Rogers Clark, Daniel Dillon, Austin Fleming, Josh Hutto, Brandon Mobley, Laurin O'Briant, Jarret Ozimek and Jack Ryan. Post Season, Greg Milhouse Jr. and Daniel Dillon both accepted invitations to play in postseason bowl games.

Volleyball

YOU JUST GOT SERVED

Campbell women's volleyball, was named the number seven team throughout the season. The team had a season full of wins with their own overall seasonal record of 14-17. On November 22 Mary Crema and Katelyn Layden earned all-tournament laurels.

Layden, and Rachel Harty led the attack with six kills, and Jessica Stocking added five kills of her own. Senior Mary Crema was able to lead the defense with nine digs. When the team beat Radford with a final score of 3-1, this win took them to the Big South Championship.

The volleyball team did not win the championship, but were named first runners up to the number two team of the season. This was the first time since 1989 that the team has took their wins to the Big South Championship. Coach Greg Goral was positive, stating that this was needed in order for the program to grow as a whole and for individual team players to grow and get better. The team is excited to defy the odds again next season and hopefully bring home that Big South Championship trophy!

Men's Soccer

IT'S GOOD TO HAVE GOALS

The Campbell University men's soccer team started the season out with a small loss to Davidson with a final score of 1-2 Davidson. Throughout the season the team brought home many different wins. Also at the end of the season the coaches produced two NCCSIA All-State team players, Bradley Farias and Josh Signey.

Farias was a first team selection while Signey was second team selection. Farias was also named Big South Attacking Player of the year. He led the team with a grand finishing total of 35 points. Along with his other statistics ranked nationally.

Signey made the All-Freshman team which was the All-Big South team. Being a rookie did not stop him in any way throughout the season, he started in all 19 matches this season with the team. Campbell has been represented in the All-State teams a total of 24 times.

First year coach, Dustin Fonder, was able to finish the Campbell's team in a 10-9-0 season which has not been done since 2012. Since rejoining the league in 2011, coach Fonder lead the team all the way to the Big South Championship Semifinals also. The team cannot wait to CU supporting them next season!

Women's Soccer

HEADING TO THE TOP

This year for our fighting camel women's soccer team has been a year that paid off very well in the end. This year the lady camels finished with a team 14-7 record and a conference record of 7-3.

This year the Campbell University was able to hold the Women's College Cup in Cary, North Carolina. This season was also a very special and life changing season for soccer player Ashley Clark. She was named to the second team of the 2015 NSCAA NCAA Division 1 Women's All-Southeast Region, Clark also signed a contract with the professional Tierps IF team in Sweden.

Overall the team this year was one of growth and winning. The lady camels are excited to get back on the field next fall.

Cross Country

WE CAN GO THE DISTANCE

The 2015 season for the Campbell cross-country team was one for the books. The men's team took home the Big South Championship title, and also had their first competition in the NCAA Championship Meet. With a young and new women's cross-country team, it led them to a sixth place in the conference.

The season meets for the men's cross-country team was win after win which led them to the Big South Championship meet and also the NCAA meet. Freshman Lawrence Kipkoech shocked the team with a conference win, and also qualifying them for nationals.

The top 5 men holding this team together and leading them to victory were Amon, who finished second, Jacob finishing in fourth. Meshack finished his season with an eighth place win, and lastly Josh who ran a PR, and also secured his winning in sixteenth.

The women's cross-country team had a collective win, finishing sixth at the conference. The team this year was full of new faces and the best that the women's team has seen in a long time. The number two runner for this year was Amina who finished second at the conference and regional meets. Even though new runner, Joan was good and fast, she took the smart path and ran in the conference meet finishing in a solid fifteenth place.

Overall both the men and women's team had a good season with some big wins and progressions made. The coaches and team cannot wait to get back in to seasonal training and accomplish more than ever.

Cheer

RALLYING THE CROWD

“G-O GO CAMELS GO!” The cheerleaders chant, stunt, tumble, and jump for victories during our Campbell football and basketball season! The team this year took a very significant change this year adding a small coed team this year.

Both large, and small coed teams cheered together all of football games, when basketball season comes around they will split the games per team. The team practiced hard and added new things to their repertoire for their competition in March. They did well at their cheer competition and made us Campbell Proud!

The stands are filled, and the crowd is roaring; not only making noise for our teams, but also for the amazing band! Playing songs from typical band cadences, to new pop music, like Bruno Mars, and even the Star Wars theme song!

The band was always there to cheer on the teams alongside the cheerleaders, and dance team. The cheer, and dance team are so thankful for the band always giving them something to jam out to!

Schools & Colleges

The Medallion Ceremony is a big deal for students at Campbell. It symbolizes the beginning of their time here at Campbell and it helps them to focus on the end result: Graduation.

ROTC

CAMPBELL RANKED AS ONE OF THE FINEST

Named by the Military Friendly® Schools list every year since 2010, Campbell University hosts one of, if not the most prestigious leadership development programs in the nation: Army Reserve Officer Training Course (ROTC). Army ROTC is a United States Army leadership program geared toward grooming individuals – young and old, experienced and greenhorn – into better leaders and giving them a pathway to becoming commissioned officers in the US Army. In ROTC, cadets are taught, coached, and mentored in leadership and put in positions where they can further develop themselves and junior cadets. Over the four years it takes for a freshman to complete ROTC, cadets are taught the basics of leadership and military doctrine, put in positions to develop their leadership talents, and physically conditioned for basic military operations. Cadets are also given the opportunity to train at summer training events such as Cadet Initial Entry Training (CIET), Cultural Understanding and Language Proficiency programs (CULP), and Airborne training, and they are evaluated at the capstone training event, Cadet Leader Course (CLC), which they attend the summer after the completion of their junior year.

While many would consider the life of a college student juggling course work and extracurriculars with ROTC training to be impossible, many cadets do not see it this way. Rising MS-4 Cadet Jacob Knox considers the lifestyle strenuous, but the achievements rewarding. “There is nothing easy about balancing a full-time course load with ROTC training, jobs, extracurriculars, and your personal life... However, to me, it is worth the difficulty of completing training if I know that I made a positive difference in the life of a cadet assigned to me, or if I can see how I myself was better developed as a leader. This training is not easy, but the people make it worth it.”

ROTC students participated in a helicopter ride exercise in April of 2015. Cadets were able to experience the flight training required of Army personnel.

The Campbell Battalion cadre represented flags from Campbell University, Fayetteville State, Methodist and UNC Pembroke.

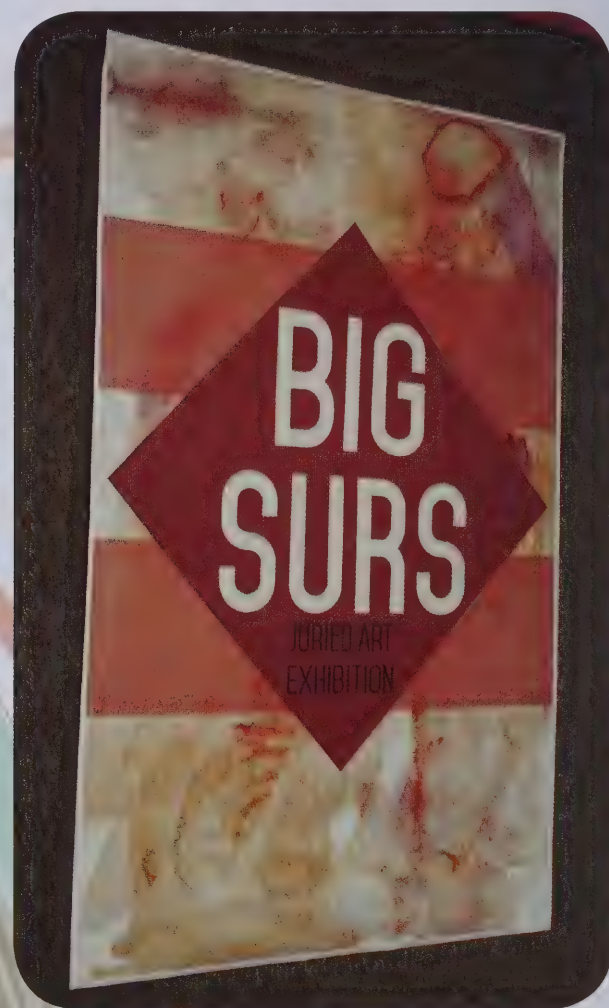

BIG SURS 2015

RESEARCH SYMPOSIUM

Each year, colleges that are a part of the Big South Athletic Conference take turns hosting a regional undergraduate symposium during any year in which attending the National Conference on Undergraduate Research (NCUR) would require extensive travel. The Big South Undergraduate Research Symposium, commonly referred to as "BigSURS," provides an opportunity for undergraduate scholars from a myriad of disciplines to share their research.

In mid-April 2015, Campbell University hosted the 7th Big South Undergraduate Research Symposium on campus, welcoming participants not only from the university's student body, but also from UNC Charlotte, UNC Greensboro, Wingate University, and other institutions. Over 260 students from 19 schools showcased their work in a variety of ways, presenting their research through posters, presentations, performances, and works of art. Campbell students excelled in their presentations, which covered a variety of topics ranging from the impact of technology of the classroom to a literary analysis of works by classic authors.

Sixteen students or teams received first-place honors for their outstanding work in their fields.

Graphic Design professor Danny Rodgers participated in the Intercollegiate Juried Art Exhibition.

Athletic Training Olympics

THAT'S A WRAP

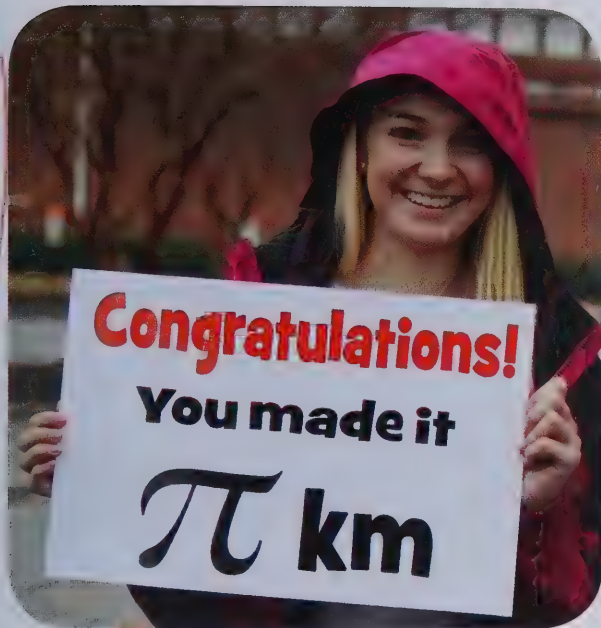

Students in the exercise science field had an athletic training olympics where they had competitions to see which team could bandage someone quicker or carry someone accross a field. There were also balancing exercises. This was open to other students, not just students in athletic training. The field wanted other students to see what the exercise science students do and what they might do in their field of work.

Pi-K

READY, SET, PI RUN

On 3/14/15 at 9:26 in the morning, Campbell University's Math and ITS Club hosted a "Pi-K" in honor of Pi Day 2015! Students, faculty, and staff from the Math and ITS Department collaborated with each other and community partners such as Food Lion, Campus Pizza, Papa John's, and SugarBaker's Cupcakes to plan this inaugural event celebrating what many referred to as the Ultimate Pi Day.

Every year, math enthusiasts around the world unite in celebration of the mathematical constant π . Pi Day is observed on March 14, since the first three significant digits of pi are 3, 1, and 4. The next two digits are 1 and 5, making 3/14/15 a unique event that will not occur again for another 100 years. The Math and ITS Department couldn't resist joining the fun!

The event included a 3.14-kilometer run around campus, followed by – you guessed it – pie! Despite the gloomy weather, students, faculty, families, and people from the community all gathered at the Lundy Fetterman School of Business early on Saturday morning. Those in attendance enjoyed the atmosphere of food, fellowship, and fun, as well as friendly competition for prizes awarded to the fastest runners. The event volunteers were both surprised and excited to find over one hundred people in attendance, not only from Campbell, but from the community as well. Math and ITS Club President, Harley Gordon, shared her excitement about the event's turnout. "The Pi-K, even with the rain, was a huge success. We look forward to making this an annual event that the CU Math/ITS Club can do to celebrate Pi Day every year."

Not only was the event a fun success for the Math and ITS Club, but it was also an effort to lend others a helping hand, as all proceeds from the race registration fees were donated to the American Cancer Society. The Math and ITS Department holds high hopes for next year's Pi Day!

Academic Symposium

RESEARCH ON DISPLAY

More than 130 undergraduate and graduate students presented at the 5th Annual Wiggins Memorial Library Academic Symposium in March 2015. This symposium gave students the chance to show their research and how much hard work they put into it. Students spent countless hours researching and putting together everything they needed to show off their hard work.

The symposium included a total of 81 oral presentations, poster presentations and musical performances delivered by and conducted by 134 students from all of Campbell University's colleges. Presentations from students in the osteopathic medicine, physician assistant, political science, business, education and social work programs were a first for this year's symposium.

Students got the opportunity to present their research in the library and the convocation center as poster presentations to anyone who walked by as well as powerpoint presentations for specific groups. Many people came to see what the different students researched and presented.

Stock Trading

The Lundy-Fetterman School of Business cut the ribbon on the First Citizens Wealth Management Center in October.

The 7,254-square-foot center boasts 32 computer stations, nine 60-inch display monitors, a 55-inch touch screen panel, 105 feet of ticker that provides the latest stock quotes, and sophisticated financial software such as Bloomberg and TOLI Vault™ that you would find at firms around the world.

"It always seems like Campbell is on an endless pursuit to provide us with new opportunities," said Nathan Arp, who is in Campbell Business's 3/2 program, which will allow him to earn both an MBA and a trust and wealth management degree in five years. "This is just another example of how great Campbell is."

Located on the first floor of the business school, the state-of-the-art center simulates an investment firm environment, a trading room, and a trust center, as well as provides the latest tools and data that financial advisors use.

Blake Gelderman

Blake Gelderman is a senior business student here at Campbell, but prior to his senior year, he visited Croatia. He decided to visit this Eastern European country because his sister and brother in law live in Ukraine and are missionaries there. He ended up just staying in Croatia, Ukraine, and Hungary and doing Bible studies there. "I did not understand any of the conversations with the people around me, other than when I talked with my missionary friends who spoke English, but I quickly realized there is so much more to communication than the words people use." Blake stayed with hosts and went to other towns and helped work at different camps for young people. "This trip made me realize that there are so many people in this world that have much less than I, yet are very content with all they have been given. When I realize that there are more important things to life than what I see with my eyes is when I begin to understand what is truly valuable." From this trip Blake sees things differently, even his way of business and his future in business.

Study Abroad Business

BUSINESS IN ITALY

Students from the Lundy-Fetterman School of Business took flight to Italy during the summer of 2015 to learn about entrepreneurship in the European nation.

Professors Kate Lawrence and Mark Steckbeck guided a group of 17 students and recent alums on the 10 day tour through Rome, Florence and the smaller communities of Assisi in Umbria and San Giamignano in Tuscany.

Students had the opportunity to meet with small and larger business owners and discuss how they face today's changing global marketplace. Business site visits included a tannery, which treats and prepares leather for luxury companies such as Prada; an organic produce company; a winery and a rugby club.

Students had plenty of opportunity to enjoy the sights and food as well, exploring ancient buildings like the Colosseum and the Piaaza del Duomo and while also learning to navigate the very modern challenges of Italian public transportation.

Students had fun exploring Italy by eating new cuisine, and exploring the growing agritourism industry.

Kathy Creed Speaks at Education Commissioning

Kathy Creed, the first lady of Campbell University, delivered the keynote address for the School of Education's Commissioning Ceremony in February. The event celebrated and recognized 71 seniors in professional education, social work and psychology who will soon begin their field placements.

"May we all have that kind of imagination as we serve our communities and our God using the gifts he has given us," she said.

Her two gifts, she said, are faith and teaching. She worked for many years in public and private school education, including serving as a speech and hearing therapist, an elementary school teacher, a school-wide testing coordinator, a career ladder liaison, a middle school assistant principal, an elementary school principal, a high school counselor, a student teacher supervisor at a university, and a teacher in an adult leadership academy.

She also has been an adult literacy volunteer and an adult GED volunteer teacher.

"My experience of service in my community began with a nudging within myself that I should be giving back to God, to my community and to others through my gift of teaching," she said. "I felt called to use my gifts."

She encouraged the students to do the same – to seek to serve and to give.

"There is a world of people out there in every community wanting and needing something that only you can give," she said. "In God's perfect timing and in God's perfect will, the needs of those in your communities will meet the need in you to serve God by using the gifts he has so generously given you. "So keep preparing yourself, striving to be the best you can be for God and for those around you."

CHARLESTON NEIGHBORHOOD PROMISE TRIP

"It's all in a trip," said Campbell University student Justin Josey when asked about his experience on a trip hosted by the School of Education. Over fall break, a group of thirty education, social work, and psychology majors embarked on an exciting leadership and learning experience, travelling as a group to the beautiful city of Charleston, South Carolina. The purpose of the trip was to explore the Charleston Promise Neighborhood program, an initiative with a goal of bettering and supporting the Title I schools in the Charleston County area.

The trip lasted three days, with Campbell students getting the chance to explore several elementary schools, including one of the few public schools that employs the Montessori method of education. "The trip was a real eye-opener for us," said Justin Jeffress, a junior who attended the trip. "It allowed us to see multiple forms of effective teaching and professional leadership techniques that we can apply to our own teaching pedagogy. The trip was amazing!"

After visiting the various schools and reflecting on what they observed and learned, the students were given the following day to venture into downtown Charleston. In addition to a water tour of the harbor, the students visited the beautiful grounds of the Boone Plantation, learning about the background of the well-known historical city.

The Charleston Promise Neighborhood trip occurs every year during fall break as an opportunity for juniors and seniors with good standing in the School of Education to gain leadership experience and expand their knowledge of the public education system. This year's trip was certainly a success, as the memories and knowledge gained from the experience will impact the students who attended for years to come.

Thirty education, social work, and psychology majors traveled to Charleston, South Carolina to expand their knowledge of the public education systems.

Carter Benghe

Carter Benghe is a second year Divinity School student here at CU. He is a resident chaplain for Kitchin Hall, a freshman male dorm, and he also sings in two different campus choirs. Carter's unique feature that makes him stand out amongst the other divinity students is that he is the only student training for the Boston Marathon. His running is a way, he says, to connect with the Lord, in a way most take for granted, through nature. He quotes Isaiah 40:30 "But those who wait for the Lord shall renew their strength, they shall mount up with wings like eagles, they shall run and not be weary, they shall walk and not faint." As I sat down with Carter I asked him why he chose Divinity school and he says "...I want to learn all I can to be able to continue to make a positive impact for Christ in the world." When asked what his ultimate goal was with going through divinity school he said was of course to graduate, but he had not yet decided what he wanted to do yet with his work with the Lord. He stated that being a divinity student here at Campbell has helped him not only grow his own relationship closer with Christ, but also connect with other students in their walk with the Lord.

Boyce Gift

With a gift exceeding $8 million dollars, prominent Raleigh attorney G. Eugene "Gene" Boyce established The G. Eugene Boyce Center of Advocacy at the law school's downtown Raleigh campus.

Boyce's contribution marks the biggest-ever gift to Campbell Law and one of the largest in Campbell University history.

The G. Eugene Boyce Center of Advocacy will serve as the home of Campbell Law's nationally competitive advocacy program. Comprised of three courtrooms and a suite of adjoining offices previously occupied by the North Carolina Business Court, The Boyce Center houses Campbell Law's two primary advocacy professors, adjunct faculty, and staff. The courtrooms within The Boyce Center will be updated with state-of-the-art technology in evidence presentation. The Boyce Center's expanded space will allow Campbell Law to host interschool competitions, as well as college and high school competitions as consistent with the institution's curricular needs. Boyce will have Practitioner in Residence status at the law school and office space in the Boyce Center.

Campbell China Deal

Campbell Law School has formed a partnership with Southwest University School of Law in Chongqing, China. The deal will allow Chinese students to earn an American law degree in as little as two years.

The historic agreement was signed on Nov. 6th by Campbell Law Dean J. Leonard and Southwest Dean Tan Zongze in China. Campbell Law Professors Melissa Essary and Greg Wallace accompanied Leonard on the trip, with each providing hour-long lectures to Southwest students and faculty.

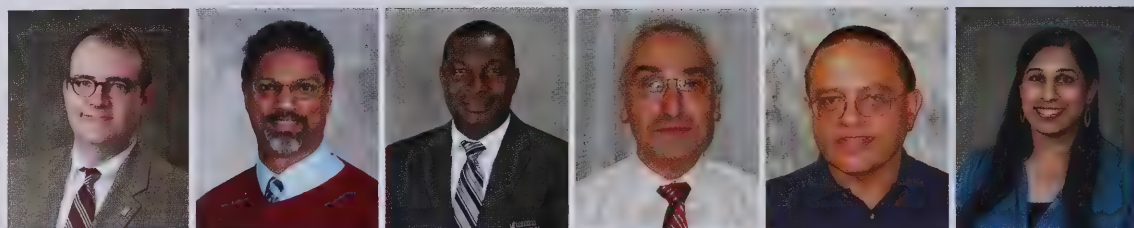

"China is a sophisticated and rapidly-changing environment, and it is important that we have a relationship with the lawyers and legal system there," said Leonard. "As the world continues to become ever more increasingly connected, and as Raleigh emerges as a hub for global businesses and novation, this presents our law school community with opportunities that are both unique and extremely beneficial."

Under the agreement Southwest students may attend Campbell Law for a semester or year and earn credits toward their Chinese degree, while Campbell Law students can study at Southwest and earn credits towards their American degree.

New Coats

PA AND PHARMACY WHITE COAT CEREMONY

First year pharmacy and physician assistant students at the College of Pharmacy & Health Sciences (CPHS) received the first white coats of their health care career at the College's annual White Coat Ceremony.

"Campbell provides an opportunity to make a life, a life of service," said Campbell University President J. Bradley Creed during his greetings to the crowd. "You are beginning a new journey here, a journey of service, healing, compassion, and hope."

The health sciences profession recognizes the white coat as a symbol of professionalism, integrity, high moral values, empathy and compassion. The shorter white coat is worn by health care providers in training, as the length of the white coat grows longer as the provider gains experience.

Dean Michael Adams shakes hands with a new PA student.

PA students listen intently as CPHS leaders extol the values of a white coat.

The white coat is a symbol of the beginning of professional health care education.

Nursing

A PLACE TO CALL THEIR OWN

A new building will rise on the Health Sciences campus as the Nursing School is officially beginning. A groundbreaking ceremony was held to help initiate this construction and new chapter at Campbell. Many people spoke, such as administrators and trustees, but Emily Grace Harris spoke on behalf of the 114 declared majors for the new program. Emily spoke of why it is important to have nurses and how happy she was that Campbell would be opening this school to allow this opportunity for her and many others. The construction has been going smooth, with the building to be done for Fall 2016. This will allow all 114 declared majors to begin their learning in a building of their own and will allow Campbell to broaden its horizons once more with the addition of a new program.

To Right: Many people participate in the groundbreaking ceremony to get the Nursing School construction started.

To Right: Everyone enjoys the celebration of the groundbreaking and hangs out to celebrate the important event.

Campbell's charter class of medical students is already making an impact on their first round of rotations.

Jamaica Mission Trip

A team of 15 Campbell University medical school faculty and students dedicated a week of their winter vacation to providing medical care in Jamaica.

"It is CUSOM's goal to not only produce physicians to serve the medically underserved populations in North Carolina and the U.S., but also across the globe," said dean John Kauffman. "CUSOM is dedicated to medical missions because we know the positive impact is twofold; they provide healthcare to patients who otherwise would not receive quality care and the experience has an immeasurable impact on medical students."

Among the many patients treated by the Campbell team, an infant's life was likely saved. Born premature at 28 weeks just a few weeks prior, the infant's mother brought her to the clinic because she had a cold and was having difficulty breathing. The Campbell physicians quickly assessed the infant needed emergency medical care at the hospital located over an hour drive away.

The trip to Jamaica is one of several domestic and international medical mission trips Campbell's medical students participate in annually. Teams travel to serve in Honduras and Haiti as well as providing care to underserved communities in North Carolina through a weekly free clinic and hosting clinics for migrant farmworkers.

Engineering

Dean Jenna Carpenter
Lynn Albers
Stephen Hasselburg
Lee Rynearson

Campbell University's School of Engineering has received approval from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) to offer a Bachelor of Science in Engineering degree (BSE) and enroll its charter class in August 2016.

When the school welcomes its first students next fall, Campbell will be only the second private university in North Carolina to house an engineering school.

Campbell Engineering is expected to enroll an inaugural class of 50 students in August 2016 and grow to approximately 250 students by 2023. Initial concentrations will include mechanical and chemical/pharmaceutical engineering, with possible future expansion into areas such as electrical and biomedical engineering.

Dr. Jenna P. Carpenter, a highly-regarded national figure in science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) higher education, was named the founding dean of Campbell University's proposed School of Engineering. Carpenter came to Campbell from Louisiana Tech University's College of Engineering and Science.

Winter 2016

Even in the winter, Campbell is beautiful. This year, we experienced a little bit of everything: ice, snow and rain. Although students didn't get as much snow as they wanted, the campus still looked pretty.

"Call me old fashioned, but I prefer my snow days with snow in them." -Katria Farmer

CAMPBELL 2015 YEAR IN REVIEW

ZipCar

A new addition to Campbell were ZipCars that could be rented by students, faculty and staff. This allows students who do not have cars on campus options to get around the area and not be stuck on campus.

Leaving Room for Debate

The Adam Smith Club and Chair of the Philosophy of Business, Boris Abbey, hosted a student led debate covering topics with representatives from the college republican club, the college democrat club and the college libertarians club. The debate allowed students to speak about important topics in a constructive way with freedom of speech in mind. This was a great way to give students a place to speak their minds and hear others opinions.

“Take Back America”

As the 2016 presidential campaigns came into full swing, Campbell students Michael Chaney, Anna Marie Vagnozzi, Christopher West, and Richard Williams traveled to Greenville, South Carolina to engage in a unique citizenship opportunity! Representing the Young Americans for Liberty chapter on campus, the four students attended a GOP forum hosted by Heritage Action for America, a conservative policy advocacy organization based out of Washington, D.C. The event, titled “Take Back America,” featured ten of the GOP candidates, who spoke about the issues they view as most important and how they plan to make an impact on our nation.

Faulkner leaves School of Business

Dean Faulkner said good-bye to the School of Business to become the dean of the School of Law at Liberty University. Faulkner had been the Dean of the School of Business as well as interim dean for Campbell’s School of Law for the 2013-2014 year, among other roles on campus. Dr. Fubara will serve as the interim dean until a replacement is found.

Founder's Week

CELEBRATING OUR SCOTTISH ROOTS

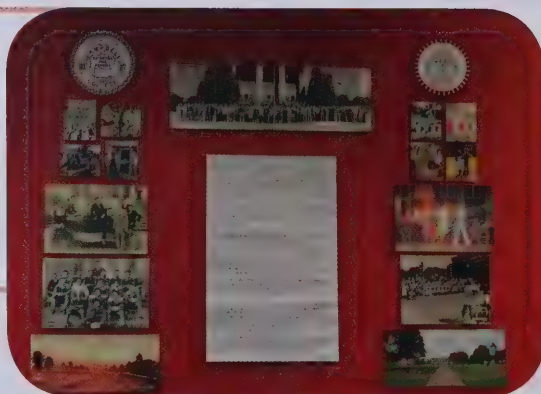

Here at Campbell, our pride and heritage run deep. We show this every year by having Founder's Week to celebrate our Scottish roots and pay homage to the founders of our great university. The week started out great with a history exhibit in the library where students could read more about J.A. Campbell, Dr. Creed and the Scottish heritage of Campbell. The week continued with Campbell Day, where students were encouraged to post how Campbell proud they were on social media. Tons of posts were sent out and everyone sported their orange in support of our school. A Trivia Night was held, to test students on their knowledge of the University's history. On Friday, The Highland Games were held, where students got to participate in traditional Scottish games and test their luck at winning the event. Turkey legs were served to keep everyone refreshed as they watched the games. To end the week, a Heritage basketball game was held where students who attended got bobble-heads of Gaylord dressed as J.A. Campbell, and there was a J.A. Campbell look alike contest. Once the week was over, Campbell pride was strong, and everyone knew more about our school's and our founder's history.

Super Bowl

50TH ANNIVERSARY- PANTHERS VS. BRONCOS

The 2016 Super Bowl was a big deal. It was the 50th anniversary of the Super Bowl and to make it even better for many people in North Carolina, The Panthers were going to be playing in it. The Panthers had been having a great season with only one loss. They were favored to win the Super Bowl by many, but for some reason, the players heads were not in the game. However, many viewing parties were held across campus with games to play and food to eat. Bob Barker RA Katlyn Clark put on a one of the parties in the dorm and she said, "The Super Bowl party had a great turnout of students where a majority were rooting for the Carolina Panthers. The Lobby was filled with cheers during game plays and commercials. Residents were able to win prizes by playing different games such as commercial bingo and guessing the team winner and score." While Peyton Manning and the Denver Broncos ended up winning this important game, Carolina still loves it's Panthers anyway.

Black History Month

CELEBRATING THEIR ROOTS

February is Black History month, where everyone celebrates and is educated on Black History. at Campbell, Black history month included a discussion panel of racial rights and ethnic group debate. Another event was located in the Rumley Center where they enjoyed food and a presentation on black history. The event in Rumley also included some music playing such as Jazz and Michael Jackson. One student says the week was really empowering because of what she was able to learn and take away from the events. Campbell takes pride in celebrating all different cultures and their history.

Mardi Gras

BRINGING TRADITION TO CAMPBELL

Mardi Gras dates back thousands of years ago to pagan spring and fertility rites. Also known as Carnival, it is celebrated in many countries around the world, mainly in those with large Roman Catholic populations, on the day before the religious season of Lent begins. Brazil, Venice, and New Orleans play host to some of the holiday's most famous public festivities, drawing thousands of tourists and revelers every year.

According to historians, Mardi Gras celebrations include the raucous Roman festivals of Saturnalia and Lupercalia. When Christianity arrived in Rome, religious leaders decided to incorporate these popular local traditions into the new faith, an easier task than abolishing them altogether. As a result, the excess and debauchery of the Mardi Gras season became a prelude to Lent. Mardi Gras soon spread to other European countries, including France, Germany, Spain, and England.

CAB held a Mardi Gras celebration in which people were able to learn about the tradition as well as enjoy food and accessories. A backdrop to pose in front of and decorate your own cupcakes made the event a fun way to celebrate the holiday.

Right: Students in attendance had the opportunity to show off their creative talents by hand-decorating cupcakes with festive Mardi Gras sprinkles and frosting.

Treat Yourself

ICE CREAM FOR ALL

During the winter months when it is so cold outside, it can be difficult to go out and enjoy yourself. However, CAB helped Campbell students with that problem by providing Treat Yourself, an event where you can make your own ice cream sundaes and enjoy friends and fun inside, away from the cold. At the event, music was played and everyone had their own ice cream creations. Toppings were available to sweeten up the ice cream, such as caramel sauce, sprinkles, and cherries. Everyone was able to come in from the cold and get warmed up by fellowship while they enjoyed their frozen treats. This event reminded Campbell students to Treat Themselves every once in a while, even in the dreary winter.

Mr. Cinderella

DRESSES FOR A CAUSE

Cinderell's Attic is a nonprofit located in Lillington, NC that helps underprivileged high school girls get free prom dresses. The organization asks for donations and put on events to fundraise in order to continue to provide prom dresses to those in need.

This year, Cinderella's Attic had a pageant at Campbell University that featured some of Campbell's most attractive ladies modeling the prom dresses that were donated. The night was a big hit as the guys put on a show full of laughter through the Mr. Cinderella Pageant. In the end, a winner was announced and some girls were given awards such as best legs and most personality. The night was a great way to fundraise for a great cause.

Campus Rec

MIND, BODY, AND SOUL

Here at Campbell University students engage in some heart healthy exercises. The activities get the students moving through stretches that help to strengthen the muscles. While some prefer the traditional yoga and zumba, some have fun with an electrifying workout with glowga. The Campus Recreation department has been adding new and exciting events and classes to get people involved. The fitness classes offered on campus have grown to being offered Mondays through Thursdays with multiple classes every night. This semester, afternoon classes have even been added for students who have night classes or commute and cannot attend the night fitness classes. With all the opportunities offered, it is impossible not to get involved and get fit!

During the week Campbell University holds Zumba classes that are located in Carter Gym. In Zumba you'll become one with your inner dance moves and burn calories at the same time.

"I love Zumba because even though I don't have a lot of rhythm I follow the lead and enjoy staying healthy." -Hannah Gooding

Yoga & Pi-Yo helps those that are not flexible release the tight muscles. "All classes focus on postures, breathing, relaxation and meditation to help you improve flexibility and strength while relaxing the body and mind. Christian Yoga classes include additional focus on the spiritual practices of yoga and concentration on God."

Right: Martha Harmon

Glowga was an event that was held on campus. The theme of the event was to let you shine all over the world. There was a DJ Cameron Leggett, lights that were provided by Darren Canfield-Smith, and photography by Jordan Wright. Everyone came out with glow sticks and neon colors and stretched their tight muscles. "Let your light shine, be the light."

"I have been attending yoga since I was a freshman. Yoga is a relief from stress. I'm stretching my body but also releasing tension. It challenges me to be a better person. The best part about yoga is at the end when we as a class have a "come to Jesus meeting" and talk about how to be a better person."
-Jordan Wright

Life Size Game Night

WELL KNOWN GAMES IN A BIGGER WAY

The CAB Social Events Committee strives to bring campus to life for students, and what better way to do that than hosting a Life-Sized Game Night? To kick off the spring semester, the committee held a fun and interactive program that featured super-sized versions of classic games many students played growing up. On one end of the Rumley Center was a huge Connect Four grid with large colorful plates taking the place of the game's colored discs, while on the other end of the room, students could be seen assembling a precariously leaning tower with oversized Jenga blocks. Those who attended were all laughs and smiles as they socialized during the games. "The night brought games to life for me!" said CAB committee member Chris West. "Not just in size, but in a new way – it was a great opportunity to spend time with old friends and make new ones."

The highlight of the event was a highly competitive game of Hungry Hungry Hippos, where the "hippos" were actually students lying atop exercise boards with friends holding their feet. The teams then raced across the Rumley Center floor with a laundry basket and tried to catch as many colorful balls as possible! The game was a hit with those who participated, offering a unique way to take a study break and de-stress from a busy first few weeks on campus.

The fun and successful evening brought back memories for many students who played these games as children. Social Events Chair Michael Chaney shared, "Having the opportunity to be the characters from the games I grew up playing was a lot of fun, and it gave a little taste of home!" Life-Sized Game Night was the first of many events this semester hosted by the Campus Activities Board that help to build the campus community.

Men's Basketball

AIMING HIGH

The basketball season started out on a high note with their first game resulting in an 87-42 win against Montreat College. Throughout the season, the Camels worked hard to end with an overall 12-18 for the year. Individual success was high for the team, with freshman Chris Clemons being named Big South Freshman of the week six times, and eventually being named Big South Freshman of the Year. Clemons also ended his season with 556 points in one season, breaking the previously held 236 points. He also scored double digits in almost every game he played in. Junior Jacob Talbert also ended the season with being named to the Big South All-Academic Team. All around, the team had a great season, and are gearing up for next season, when they can prove themselves once again.

Women's Basketball

SHOOTING STARS

The women's team had a great start to their season with three consecutive wins against N.C. Central, North Carolina A&T, and Mount St. Marys. Continuing to work hard throughout their season, the girls made it to the quarterfinals of the Big South Championship in Asheville, NC. This was a huge success for the team, with everyone working hard during the first game of the Championship, and Amanda Coffey ending the game with a three at the buzzer, winning the game for the camels. The girls ended their season 13-18 overall. Sarah Smith was named to the Big South All-Academic Team, which is a great honor. With such a great season, the girls are ready to make it back to Big South next year, and take the gold.

Swimming

ONE STROKE AT A TIME

Splish splash! Diving into the Campbell Women's Swim team. They had a great season with win after win. This year in Athens, Georgia at the 2016 Coastal Collegiate Sports Association Swimming and Diving Championships the lady camels set a record on just the second day. Michelle Case, Sindija Silina, Alice Rigback and Kat Costin lead the Lady Camels to a third place win and their first medal of the week.

Also at the CCSA Swimming and Diving Competition 21 Campbell Student-Athletes were given All-Academic Honors at the meet, which is much better than last year's 18 members. Two seniors, Sarah Jabusch and Kat Costin, were a part of the 21 that were honored; this was meaningful to them because this is their 4th time being recognized with academic honors by the CCSA. The lady camels are excited to have a small break and then get back in the water, and swim their way to victory again!

Wrestling

PINNING DOWN SUCCESS

Wrestling had a lot of personal bests this season starting out with Ville Heino being selected to wrestle at the World Championship in Las Vegas. Heino represented his native country of Finland at the competition. He won his first two rounds at the competition, falling in the third. Three camels placed second in their weight classes at the Citadel Open. JD Stone, Kaleb Warner, and Willie Bivens III all placed. Paul Duggan was also named the first Southern Conference Wrestler of the week for 2015-16. Campbell wrestling will be sending two wrestlers to Madison Square Garden to compete in the 2016 NCAA Wrestling National Championship. Both won their respective weight classes at the 2016 Arby's Southern Conference Championship, giving them automatic bids to the National Championship. The camels will travel and compete, hopefully bringing home wins for Campbell Wrestling.

Intramural

PLAY FOR PASSION

Intramural sports are where people go to play for fun. It doesn't require extensive training and it can be used to relieve stress after a long day of classes. The great thing about intramural sports is that you get to meet people who like to play the same sports as you and they might even share other commonalities with you as well.

This past fall, Campbell held the flag football championship for many different schools. It went through several rounds and North Carolina A&T came in first with Methodist coming in second. About a month later, the flag football teams at Campbell faced off against each other to see who was the champion on campus.

"I love intramurals because it gives you a chance to forget about the stress of classes and make memories with friends in competitive games. The Campus Rec staff is full of great people, and they offer a wide variety of sports. I can thank intramurals for the countless number of friends I have made here at Campbell!" says Kyle White.

"I like intramural sports because I get to meet friends, stay healthy and stay active. I enjoy the competition and working out with others and just sharing hobbies," says Daniel Salazar.

Editorial

The two thousand and sixteen yearbook was made with every Campbell student in mind. Our staff made every attempt to represent every student, faculty, or staff member that is a part of Campbell University. We made this book fun, colorful, and bright in order to represent the true feeling of this university. The goal of this book is to represent the school and community. As everyone looks through this book, they should feel at home and remember the events that made their Campbell experience what it was. The staff hopes that this book will help everyone to remember their time at Campbell years from now when they open this book.

The process of creating the two thousand and sixteen book was one we will never forget. It brought our staff closer to each other as well as closer to Campbell itself. By documenting the history of this past year, we had the opportunity to get a true feeling of the heart of this university. We all got an opportunity to see the joy every student has at Campbell's events and the passion the faculty and staff have as they work here. We hope that this joy and passion can be seen throughout this book, as we have tried our best to represent it.

With every deadline, our staff put in all of their effort to create this book. With this being said, you may find some flaws within the yearbook. We ask that you excuse these as we did our best to strive for perfection. We all hope that the emotion of the book speaks louder than any flaws you may find. As we worked on this book, we all became a part of it and are truly excited to present it to you. May you enjoy this two thousand and sixteen yearbook now and for years to come!
